

Geneva Talks Deadlocked; Secrecy Veils Final Hours

By MAX HARRELSON

GENEVA (AP)—The Big Four failed to break their deadlock at the morning summit session today, but an American spokesman said "definite progress" had been made.

The government heads met for almost two hours after President Eisenhower and Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov had had a private talk—possibly on the President's proposal for an exchange of military blueprints between the United States and Russia.

The conference itself was trying to iron out differences over arrangements for future talks on key problems. The deadlock marred the final hours and left uncertain both the outcome and the closing time.

Secrecy Veils Session

The last phase of the meeting was cloaked in a sudden secrecy. Presidential Press Secretary James J. Hagerty at first refused to comment beyond announcing that there would be an afternoon session. Later, however, he said:

"Speaking for the American delegation, we believe that definite progress was made this morning, though as usual difficult problems remain to the end."

It was not clear whether the powers still were stalled on the question of priorities for the proposed new foreign ministers session next October or whether they were discussing disarmament.

The possibility of a shift to the disarmament problem was indicated by the fact two of Eisenhower's advisers on German reunification or a European security system would be the primary goal of the foreign ministers' conference proposed for this fall.

The government chiefs were hoping to end their historic summit meeting, which began here Monday, by nightfall.

Work Long Hours

The Russian and Western foreign ministers worked far into last night but were unable to settle the unification-security disagreement. They referred the issue back to their chiefs at this morning's meeting.

Although there was no official word that Eisenhower and Zhukov discussed the President's military proposal, observers noted that this subject fell within the jurisdiction of the Soviet defense minister and that it was he who requested the meeting.

Up until this morning, the Russians had given no reply to Eisenhower. The two leaders talked for 50 minutes, but Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty declined to say what they discussed.

West Offers Compromise

The Western Powers meanwhile were reported seeking Soviet agreement to a compromise plan to break the conference deadlock. Informal sources said the West was proposing that the German and security questions be taken up together as inter-related subjects, at the foreign ministers' meeting tentatively set for October.

The British delegation was reported to be slightly more hopeful of an agreement after Eden's talk with Bulganin. Earlier last night the British press spokesman, Sir George Young, said the deadlock threw the October conference in doubt.

Hagerty Is Optimistic

Hagerty was more optimistic last night. He said the U.S. delegation "believed and hoped" the differences would be solved this morning.

In their effort to reach agreement, the Big Four streamlined their delegations in the summit meeting to four members each instead of the usual 10.

Those from the United States sitting with Eisenhower were Secretary of State Dulles, Assistant Secretary Livingston Merchant and State Department Legal Adviser Herman Phleger. With Soviet Premier Bulganin were Zhukov, Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Whether an agreement was reached or not, Eisenhower's private plane was standing by to fly him back to Washington tonight.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

PAIR WILL GET 'BARGAIN RATE' ON COURT COSTS

Dale R. Reichart, Abbottstown R. 1, and Robert L. March, East Berlin, who were found innocent of a charge of assault by an Adams County jury, but directed to pay the costs, will receive a "bargain rate" as far as the costs are concerned, as a result of an opinion handed down by the court today.

The youths were charged by York Police Captain William J. Farrell with assault, conspiracy to commit assault and battery and with a morals charge. The grand jury threw out the morals charge. The court directed that a "not guilty" verdict be brought on the conspiracy charge and the jury, after finding the two innocent of the assault charge, "apparently feeling that the actions of the boys were reprehensible, directed them to pay the costs of the prosecution," according to the court's opinion.

When presented with a bill for $296.35 as the costs in the case, the two youths, through their attorney, objected to having to pay for some, at least, of the 25 witnesses.

Called Too Many

They argued that many of the witnesses were not called and the testimony they could give would be irrelevant. The two had been charged by Farrell 37 days after they had brought charges of assault and battery and unlawfully pointing a firearm against him. In today's opinion, the court held, "There is some basis for the argument that the charges (against Reichart and March) were brought to bolster Farrell's defense to the charges against him." After a jury failed to reach a verdict in Farrell's case, he entered a nolo contendere plea to the charges.

In its opinion the court listed those witnesses whose testimony was material to the case against Reichart and March but held that the calling of 13 witnesses to testify to the condition of Farrell's daughter and daughter-in-law upon their arrival at the Farrell Cottage after running through fields in the belief that the two young men were seeking to attack them, was too many.

"We think that three witnesses would have been ample to establish the facts alleged, if they had been relevant. Calling 13 witnesses under these circumstances would savor of oppression. The allowance to the witnesses vary according to the mileage, but we think the ends of justice will be met by eliminating the sum of $90 from the amount required to be paid by the defendants, reducing the costs to them to $206.36," the court opined.

The two had already posted the costs, so they will be given a refund of $90, according to the opinion.

However the witnesses called for the case, whose costs were not assessed against the pair, will still be paid, with the county assuming those costs because the witnesses responded in good faith to a subpoena for them.

Burning Cycle Fires Woods; Rider Unhurt

A motorcycle rider escaped unharmed but his cycle was completely destroyed when it caught fire and burned as he was riding in the vicinity of Rothaupt's Mill Friday evening about 8 o'clock.

John Plank, R. 2, told Greenmount firemen who responded, that his cycle backfired and apparently a spark set it on fire.

Flames spread to brush along the road and burned up as high as 30 feet on several trees. The Greenmount Co. used water from its booster tanks to extinguish the flames. The loss was estimated at between $600 and $700.

Conservation Club To Elect Wednesday

Adams County's "home grown" 4-H Conservation Club will name officers Wednesday evening at a meeting at the farm of Garnet Coble, between Center Mills and Gardner, County Agent Frank S. Zettle announced today.

The club marks the first such 4-H organization in the state and as a result had to develop a completely new program for its three years of planned activities.

At Wednesday's meeting a movie on conservation and display of wild ducks native to Pennsylvania are scheduled.

TRAVEL COUNCIL TO MEET

The Gettysburg Travel Council will meet Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the former CCC Camp, W. Confederate Ave., President A. Larson announced today. Refreshments will be served and the movie on Gettysburg produced under sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce and Travel Council will be shown.

DRY WEATHER CUTS SUPPLY ON MARKET STANDS

Corn, tomatoes and peaches were available at the Farmers' Market this morning, but not for very long. Only small quantities were ready for market and these sold fast. Farmers stated that the dry weather has delayed the harvest, but that they expect corn to be more plentiful at Tuesday's and next Saturday's markets.

The corn went for 60 cents a dozen, with Iowa Chief and Golden Bantam being the varieties sold. The tomatoes sold for 35 cents for a pint box and 50 cents a quart box. Peaches were 30 and 35 cents a box.

Green apples were selling for 35 cents a quarter peck and 65 cents a half peck, for the Summer Rambos, and 30 and 35 for the other varieties, including Duchess, Transparent and Early Ripe. Plums were available in quantity for the first week, at 25 cents a quart.

Sour Cherries About Over

Sour cherries were still available in good supply at 25 cents a quart box, but farmers expect next week to be "about the last" of full supply. Blueberries were 35 cents a quart. New potatoes were numerous this morning and the price dropped to 15 cents a quart and 50 cents a half peck. The price on stringless beans also dropped from last week, down to 15 cents for a quart box and two for 25 cents.

Other commodities remained at about the same prices as last Saturday. Cabbages were 10 and 15 cents, squash at five and 10 cents, and cucumbers at five and 10 cents. Red beets continued at 10 and 15 cents a bunch. Dressed chickens remained at 55 cents a pound and eggs at 50 cents a dozen.

ZETTLE ADVISES ON MOTH SPRAY

With second generation codling moth scheduled to begin entering apples next week, County Agent S. Zettle this morning sent letters to fruit growers calling for a special spray to combat the moth.

Zettle also noted that red-banded leaf rollers and mites are present in some orchards, while green apple and wooly aphids can be found in most orchards.

Growers who have a codling moth problem should apply the special spray immediately. Growers whose orchards have not been bothered by the moth may wait until the seventh cover spray to put in materials for protection against the pest.

For codling moth control only, two pounds of a 50 per cent DDT wettable powder should be used per 100 gallons of dilute spray. Where codling moth, leaf roller and mites are to be controlled, one pound of a 50 per cent wettable powder TDE and two pounds of Aramite 15-W should be added to the DDT in the mixture. For concentrate sprays the amounts should be tripled.

For codling moth, leaf roller, mites, and aphids, a spray made up of two pounds of DDT and two pounds of a 25 per cent wettable powder Malathion should be used per 100 gallons with the amounts tripled for a concentrate spray.

Two Are Injured In Early Morning Crash

Both drivers suffered injuries to their left elbows when two cars sideswiped three miles east of here on the Bonneville Rd. at 2:15 o'clock this morning, state police reported today.

Many Exotic Trees Among Sixty Varieties In National Cemetery; Rare, Strange Species On List

More than 60 varieties of trees are to be found in the 17-acre Gettysburg National Cemetery, including not only the common spruces and maples, but such exotic types as the plumed Japanese cypress and the Kentucky coffee tree.

Officials place the total number of trees at present at about 375, about equally divided between evergreen and deciduous.

The last complete "census" of cemetery trees was taken in 1938. It showed 246 trees then and identified sixty varieties. Most numerous were the Norway maples, with 43 of that type, followed by the American arbor vitae, with 39. There were 27 Norway spruces and 24 American hemlocks.

Varnish Tree And Maidenhair

Trees to be found in the cemetery, in addition to those mentioned above, were the sugar maple, Japanese maple, white fir, sawara cypress, Nordmann's fir, silver fir, balsam fir, golden-plumed cypress, Oriental spruce, columnar spruce, bald cypress, tulip, red maple, yellow wood tree, weeping willow, silver maple, white birch, white oak, plain fir, cucumber tree, European larch, honey locust and buckeye.

Hospital Fund At $216,457.88

The Warner Hospital Building fund has received $1,064.95 during the last week. Hospital Administrator Walter B. Dillon announced today, bringing the grand total in the fund to $216,457.88.

Mr. Dillon said that he understood that several organizations would hold activities within the near future with the hospital receiving the proceeds.

Two Break Arms In Falls Friday

Helen Cox, 51, Aspers R. 1, was treated at the Warner Hospital for a fracture of her left arm received in a fall at her home Friday.

Paul Wallen, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kemp Wallen, Aspers R. 1, was also treated for a fractured left arm sustained Friday in a fall at his home.

Larry Lee Wilt, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Wilt, Hanover R. 3, received treatment for a laceration of the left knee.

More Discomfort Is Ahead For Sweltering Northeastern U.S.

Friday's high reading here was 98 degrees, equalling the previous high mark for the month set on July 4. It was the eighth consecutive day of above 90 heat for Gettysburg and the 17th this month.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Northeastern States, already writhed by the hottest day of the year yesterday, were in line for more discomfort today. Weather forecasts said it would be hot, humid and sultry.

Some points could hope for temporary relief from afternoon showers and thunderstorms which the Weather Bureau said would be generally scattered throughout the area. By Sunday things are expected to be a little cooler.

In New York today's high temperature was expected to approach the year's record of 96.8 degrees yesterday. This was the official reading at the Battery in lower Manhattan. Thermometers at Times Square and La Guardia Airport hit 100 or higher.

114 In Buffalo

Elsewhere it was even hotter. In South Wales, near Buffalo, N.Y., the mercury hit 114. In Plainfield, N.J., it was 102 and in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., 101.

Former College Athlete Expires

Mensch graduated from Gettysburg College in 1929 where he starred in football and baseball. He was a member of the Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity. At the time of his death he was principal of Danville High School.

Following his graduation he coached football at Tyrone High School until 1933 when he returned to Danville.

temperature rose to 98 for the capital's eighth consecutive day above 90.

In New York, city employees who could be spared were excused and many private firms closed down early. Hartford Conn.'s big insurance companies and state offices closed under the pressure of 95-degree heat.

Philadelphia chalked up 100 degrees, equalling the record for the date.

Sea Breeze In Boston

A sea-breeze kept Boston comfortable most of the day but when the breeze died down the temperature quickly popped from 82 to 91.

Maine was comparatively cool yesterday, with highs of 87 at Rumford and Old Town, but its luck was not expected to last. The forecast for Maine read "warmer and more humid."

In addition to discomfort, the hot weather brought another hot weather problem to some areas—water shortage.

Buffalo faced a serious drought, its "worst in modern times." The city banned lawn sprinkling and auto washing. Low water pressure shut off air conditioning in hospital operating rooms and big storage refrigerators around the city broke down.

COUPLE IS WED THIS MORNING AT FAIRFIELD

Miss Nancy Jane Entenmann, Narberth, Pa., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Entenmann, Iron Springs, became the bride of Dino Vaccher, Chester, Pa., son of Mrs. Joseph Vaccher and the late Gildo Vaccher of Chester, in a ceremony performed this morning at 10 o'clock in St. Mary's Catholic Church at Fairfield. The Rev. Fr. John McNulty, rector, officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina-length, white crystaletto gown with wide shoulder straps, a fitted bodice and full skirt. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a half crown of pearls. Her bouquet was of pink sweetheart roses fastened to a white prayer book and Stephanotis.

The maid of honor was a former classmate of the bride in nursing school, Miss Dorothy Getz, Germantown. She wore a light blue crystaletto gown with a white picture hat, light blue gloves and white shoes. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and blue delphinium.

Reception On Lawn

An uncle of the bridegroom, Nazario Bichelli, Pittston, Pa., was the best man.

The organist was Miss Patricia Bushey. She played the traditional wedding music and provided her own accompaniment while she sang "Ave Maria," "Panicus Angelicus" and "O Lord, I Am Not Worthy."

The church, decorated with two altar vases with white floral arrangements, was well-filled for the ceremony.

A lawn reception is being held at the home of the bride's parents after which the couple will leave on a week's wedding trip to Michigan. Upon their return they will reside at Chester.

The bride is a graduate of the Lankenau School of Nursing in Philadelphia and is now a general duty nurse in that hospital. Her husband is a Korean war veteran and is employed by the Jacobs Brothers Construction Company at Broomall, Pa.

Here And There News Collected At Random

The pesky mosquitoes and flies have taken Gettysburg again. They have invaded this historic community with a vengeance and they are raising havoc in many areas of town.

The spraying by truck has been ineffective. It fails to reach the breeding areas of the pests in many localities with the result that residents are compelled to seek comfort and safety indoors.

Some folks are hand-spraying their yards in a vain effort to erase the pests. Others are reported to be burning smudge pots to strangle the little demons. But the results, generally, are listed as failures . . . the old pests keep right on biting, kicking and chewing.

One good spraying of the town by plane would kill millions.

Ninety years ago, a train pulled out of Chicago hauling a new-fangled car that looked like a cross between a box car and a passenger coach. This was an historic moment—for that car was the first rolling post office, even though railroads had carried mail in bulk as early as 1831.

The rolling post office revolutionized the mail service, providing a speed and certainty of delivery that would have seemed unbelievable in prior times. Today 2,600 of the cars ply the 137,000 miles of railroad designated as mail routes by the Post Office Department. Some 14,500 postal employees sort the mail on the move, while the railroads have nearly 50,000 of their own men assigned to handling the mail in stations. In addition, the lines make available for the mails a fleet of more than 11,500 baggage and express cars.

There is no question that mail by rail is the backbone of the postal system. The Iron Horse carries 35,000,000,000 pieces of mail a year—about 85 per cent of all non-local postal traffic.

The law provides that the mail must be given preferential treatment over all other traffic—which means that in an emergency passengers might have to wait while the mails went through. Such an eventuality is hardly likely, however—the railroad-post office teams work together so smoothly and efficiently that each day's mountain of mail melts away into millions of mailbox molehills in routine fashion.

Finally, the railroads do this tremendous job for a very modest wage. Payments to the rails (Continued on Page 3)

USAF Says Taboo To Shorts, Jeans

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—Many young Bavarians wear leather shorts, called lederhosen, in summer. They're considered cool and comfortable.

Lots of American GIs and airmen stationed in Germany thought so, too. They started wearing lederhosen in off-duty hours.

But the U. S. Air Force doesn't like to see its knees in public places. It has banned lederhosen.

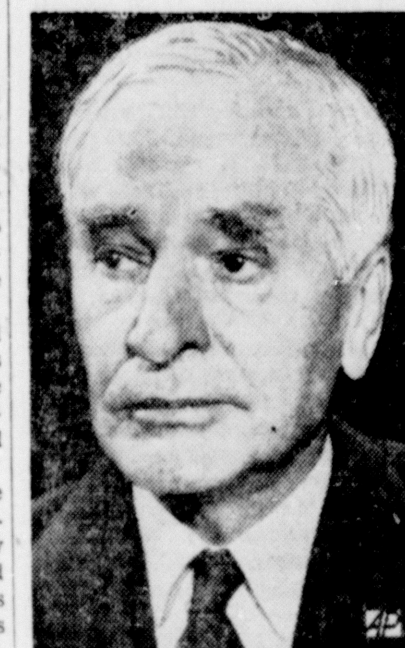

The leather pants head a list of what the well-dressed airman should not wear in public. Also taboo are blue jeans, cloth shorts, sweatshirts, T-shirts and zoot suits.

Airmen, says the order, "will refrain from wearing attire which borders on the sensational."

Cordell Hull Passes Away

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cordell Hull, former secretary of state whom many hailed as "the father of the United Nations," died today. He was 83 last Oct. 2.

Death came at 9 a.m. at the U. S. Naval Hospital in nearby Bethesda, Md. The elderly statesman had been taken there last March 26 after suffering a stroke in his Hotel Sheraton-Park apartment. He had another stroke yesterday.

Hull had long been in poor health suffering from high blood pressure and ailments of old age.

Ill Since '51

In 1951 he suffered a cerebral thrombosis and was desperately ill for many months. Friends despaired of his life, but he made a good recovery and left the hospital to live in his hotel quarters.

Mrs. Hull died in March 1954. Until his stroke in March, and aside from periods of critical illness in recent years, Hull had maintained an interest in national affairs.

Was Secretary 11 Years

As the original sponsor of the reciprocal trade program, going back to his days in the Senate, Hull had been especially interested in U. S. trade policy and had closely followed the ups and downs in Congress of pending legislation to carry on the trade program.

The funeral will be held at National Cathedral and Hull will be buried there. Mrs. Hull is buried there.

Hull, as secretary of state in three administrations of the late president Franklin D. Roosevelt, held the post longer than any other man in the nation's history—from March 1933 to November 1944.

Illness forced his retirement in World War II.

FULL BLAME IS PLACED BY JURY ON MARYLANDER IN FATAL CRASH

Full responsibility for the death of Mrs. Elsie Fenstermacher, 60, North Wales, Pa., in an auto crash June 7 at the York Springs intersection was placed by a coroner's jury Friday afternoon on an Annapolis, Md., Negro, driver of one of the other vehicles involved in the double collision.

"We find Carroll Henry Hynson, 53, of Annapolis, Md., fully responsible for the accident by failing to observe the warning and stop signs at the intersection," the jury wrote. They added: "There is no evidence of negligence on the part of the other drivers involved."

Hynson, who attended the inquest but did not testify, is under $1,500 bail for August court on an involuntary manslaughter charge filed by Gettysburg state police the day of the accident before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder, Gettysburg.

Hear 9 Witnesses

Nine witnesses, including Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner who conducted the inquest, testified. Henry Fenstermacher, husband of the dead woman and driver of the car in which she rode, had been subpoenaed for the inquest but his accident injuries prevented his presence. He suffered rib fractures and damage to two vertebrae.

The accident occurred about 9 a.m. when Hynson, bound from Annapolis to Penn State via Hanover and Carlisle, crashed into the empty tank trailer of a northbound Wormleysburg truck and swung it into the path of the Fenstermacher car, southbound on the Harrisburg Rd. The trailer and the Fenstermacher car collided with such force that the car was thrown back 45 feet into a guard rail. Mrs. Fenstermacher died ten minutes later in an ambulance enroute to the hospital here.

Dr. Crist, last witness, told the jury that Hynson had told him after the crash that he had not seen any warning signs as he approached the intersection.

At High Speed, Didn't Stop

Most witnesses agreed that Hynson was driving at a high speed or "above the legal speed" as some of the witnesses said, and had slammed on his brakes a short time before he hit the truck.

First witness called was Albert Gingrich, Wormleysburg, the truck driver. Northbound through the intersection he had "heard brakes squeal and saw the Hynson car coming on at a very high speed." His trailer was hit in its "mid-section," he said. The 7,000-pound empty tank trailer was swung across the road by the impact and into the death car's path.

Gingrich estimated his own speed at 20 to 25 miles an hour and Hynson's at 60 or 65. "He definitely did not stop for the stop sign—he never could have stopped." He estimated Fenstermacher was driving at 30 to 35 miles an hour.

Refused To Talk To Police

Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, Warner Hospital surgeon, told of Fenstermacher's condition (Continued on Page 3)

Will Hold Hearing On Leader Tax Plan

Assemblyman Francis Worley announced he will hold a public hearing Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock on Governor Leader's tax program to find out what the people in this section of the county think about the proposed income tax. The House may vote Tuesday on the plan.

Soon after the governor announced his tax program, Worley held hearings at Biglerville and Littlestown where he found general opposition to the new taxes proposed. Where a preference was expressed, the people said they favored continuation of the sales tax rather than new levies.

Mr. Worley said he is not yet committed to any tax program and added that he "appreciates the state's need for money for schools, soldier bonuses and other commitments" but that he feels the first approach to the financial problem is through budget-cutting.

DON'T BE AFRAID TO PICK UP BABY IF HE CRIES

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.
The Associated Press

"But, doctor, won't I spoil him if I pick him up when he cries? We don't want a spoiled brat? Doesn't he have to learn right from the beginning that he can't have everything he wants?"

Of course you don't want a spoiled brat, but attending to his needs won't spoil him. Holding and rocking and loving are just as real needs as food and warmth.

The baby who is made to cry it out is likely to grow into an obnoxious, whining, demanding child. The baby who is comforted when he cries is likely to grow into a happy, contented youngster.

Did you ever stop to think that only human babies cry? The young of other species whimper a little, but only a human baby can rouse the neighbors with his lusty yells.

Mothers Aid

Wise old Mother Nature has not only given our babies the ability to cry, but she has also given mothers a special ear for this cry. Every normal mother yearns to comfort her crying baby. You have to have a baby of your own to know that tug on your heartstrings.

Don't be afraid to follow your instincts — they were given you to be used.

Get a rocking chair and hold and rock your baby as much as both of you want. Some babies cry more than others, but all babies cry.

If your baby cries a great deal, maybe there is something wrong. Perhaps he isn't getting enough to eat or his food is not right for him. Maybe he is sick. Get in touch with your doctor.

But if your baby cries a little now and then when he is not hungry, when there doesn't seem to be anything wrong, probably he is crying because he wants to be picked up. It's a real need, give it to him. Don't walk away and say: "He doesn't want anything except to be picked up — he is just spoiled."

He is not spoiled — he is just a baby and he needs to be picked up and loved and rocked. For nine long months he has been gently rocked in your body. He liked it. No wonder he doesn't want it to stop suddenly just because he was born. Gradually as he gets older he will have less and less need for rocking and comforting especially if he gets all he needs when he really needs it.

At the same time don't pester your baby. Don't rush in to him and insist on rocking him every time he peeps.

But when he breaks down into just yells — do something. Feed him if he is hungry, change his pants if he needs them, change, see that he is warm but not too hot. After you have done these things put him back in his crib. If he is peaceful you have done what he wanted you to do. If he still yells, probably he wants to be rocked and held for a while. Give him the comfort he is asking for.

Air Force Speeds Up Production Of Jets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has followed its recent action to speed up jet bomber production with a similar order applying to two faster-than-sound jet fighters.

A new directive issued yesterday called for accelerating the turn-out of P101 twin jet all weather interceptors and F104 light weight fighters with money already approved by Congress.

The Air Force, which has been tight-lipped about most details of these two advanced fighters, has confirmed that both types have flown faster than sound, whose speed at sea level is about 750 miles an hour.

There have been reports the F104, made by the Lockheed Aircraft Corp., Burbank, Calif., has attained speed twice that of sound. The P101 is made by the McDonnell Aircraft Co., St. Louis.

Wolfeschlegelstein-Hausenbergderoff

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Hubert Blaine Wolfeschlegelsteinhausenbergderoff Sr., is quite proud of Hubert Jr.'s accomplishment.

The boy, just a shade over three years old, "surprised us by saying his name—all nine syllables of it," said the proud father.

You'd think that being a loutype operator, Hubert Sr. would be sympathetic with people who have to tussle with his name.

But the telephone directory lists the full moniker—Wolfeschlegelsteinhausenbergderoff, Hubert B. Sr.—on one full line and his address on another line.

And he told the utility company he wouldn't pay his bill unless his name was right. So his name, on three lines, always come properly spelled out.

After all, he explains, "My legal name is Wolfeschlegelsteinhausenbergderoff (it sounds shorter when he says it) and that's the way I want it."

The city gets away with an abbreviated form on its voting registration books. There he's listed as Mr. Wolfeschlegelstein—which is as far as the city business machines will go.

war. These efforts led to creation of the United Nations.

Born in a log cabin in Tennessee, Hull spent his whole adult life in public service. He was in Congress for 24 years—22 in the House and 2 in the Senate—before he became secretary of state. Before that he was first a state legislator and later a circuit judge in Tennessee.

5 Accomplishments

Hull was described by a close friend as considering five accomplishments to be of primary importance in his career:

1. His part in developing the United Nations. President Roosevelt called him, in a letter at the time of Hull's retirement, "the father of the United Nations."

2. Development of nonpartisanship in foreign policy. Hull helped bring about cooperation between the Roosevelt administration and Republican leaders, initially to win G.O.P. cooperation in the creation of the U. N.

3. His part in evolving the "Good Neighbor" policy toward Latin America.

4. Enactment of the trade agreements program.

5. His contribution to raising standards of international morality and conduct.

A gaunt, 6-footer with thick white hair, Hull had a courtly manner reminiscent of the Victorian era. But he was known at times to explode into Tennessee frontier language.

"Cussed Out" The Japs
One memorable time was the "cussin' out" he gave Japanese envoys who were talking peace with him at the very moment the Japanese Navy was attacking Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

By all accounts the air was blue with his picturesque language.

Those most closely associated with Hull described him as a man of simplicity and deep faith. There was about him something of the brooding air of his Tennessee mountains.

To a close friend in the State Department, Carlton Savage, Hull once remarked: "What we need today are leaders who commune with the rivers and the mountains and the stars."

Hull was married in 1917 to Mrs. Rose Frances Whitney. They had no children.

The mysterious "X" ray was first discovered in 1895 by Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen, a German physicist, while he was experimenting with high vacuum tubes. It was he who named the ray "x," for unknown quantity, though medically it is called the roentgen ray. What we see in an x-ray picture corresponds to the photographic negative made in an ordinary camera. However, it is not properly a photograph but a radiograph, for where light rays bounce off solids, x-ray waves penetrate them. Though x-rays are much like light rays, they are so short in wave length as to be out of the range of sight.

Is the gasoline you buy today about the same as that of years ago? Is the gas you obtain in Maine the same as that sold in South Carolina? And is the gas you'll find in your car this summer identical with that you'll buy when the cold winds howl next winter?

If you answer yes to any or all of these questions, you're wrong, according to a vivid description of "how gasoline grew up" that appeared recently in a magazine published by one of our leading oil companies.

As far back as 1912, a gasoline shortage was impending, because of the automobile fever that was sweeping the country—more than 2,000 different makes were in production then. The scientists went to work and the result was the thermal cracking process which vastly increased the gasoline yield from a barrel of crude.

About the same time, car drivers were plagued with "pinging" of the engines. Again the laboratories took over. Six years of painstaking research were required before it was learned that a few drops of tetraethyl lead would cure this.

So the progress went, down the years, with the quality of gasoline getting better all the time. And that evolution is still going on.

Finally, refiners generally lower the volatility of their gas in warm weather to prevent vapor lock—and increase it in cold weather for the sake of better starting and warm-up. And gasolines are blended differently in different sections of the country.

All the oil companies are competing to produce still higher qualities of gas, along with other products. You, the consumer, are the gainer.

State Police said that Peter J. Jackson, 19, of Newark, was killed when his car bumped the rear of another auto swerved across the medial strip and into the path of two other oncoming cars.

The two occupants of one of the cars in the other lane are in fair condition at St. Francis Hospital, Trenton.

His passenger, Coast Guardsman Jack Bradley, 23, of Trenton, is suffering from face cuts and bruises.

Police said the first car bumped, traveling north with Jackson's car, was driven by Joseph C. Scanlon, 30, of (708 Lyndale Ave.) Drexel Hill, Pa.

Oppose Rates For

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Public Utility Commission will hold another round of hearings next week on complaints from 23 plants against industrial rates charged by the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co., Allentown.

Though a rate schedule revision last Feb. 28 reduced the firm's industrial revenue $273,523 a year, the complainants contend PP&L is still receiving a rate of return too high for its capital investment.

macher's injuries and said he had been in the hospital two weeks. The doctor said the driver told him he remembered nothing about the accident.

William Coulson, 14, who saw the crash from atop the TV aerial on his father's service station just north of the intersection, said Hynson did not sound his horn and had applied "a little bit of brakes" before he hit the trailer. Trees blocked his view of the second collision.

Pvt. Jack Zelinski, of the Gettysburg substation of the state police, said Fenstermacher told him he remembered nothing of the crash and that Hynson had refused to make any statement to police until he consulted an attorney. He said Michael Ivy, 17, Washington, D. C., a passenger in the Hynson Cadillac, had been turning the car radio and missed the events before the crash.

Skidded 50 Feet
Zelinski, who reached the scene eight minutes after the crash, described the positions of the cars on the highway and said the warning blinker above the intersection was operating. He said Hynson's car had left 50-foot skid marks before the crash.

Asked for his opinion of the cause of the crash, Zelinski said Hynson had disregarded five warning signs, including the stop sign, and had been speeding.

Kerley M. Vauls, 19, Annapolis, riding on the rear seat of the Hynson car, said Hynson had been driving at a "normal" speed from Baltimore but could not estimate the speed at the time of the accident.

Members of the jury were John W. Fox, Harold L. Ecker, L. Glenn Shriner, Jacob M. Bream, Frank L. Mumper and Hugh C. McIlhenny, foreman.

BOLT KILLS AIRMAN

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—An airman second class from Lansford, Pa., was struck and killed by a bolt of lightning yesterday at the Lincoln Air Force base. The victim, Francis Brunda, 21, a crew chief for a T-33 jet, was helping in refueling the plane at the time.

gate from the Taneytown Road. The 24 trees planted last April in the National Cemetery were spruce, pine and hemlocks, according to John C. W. Riddle, National Park ranger in charge of the cemetery. The new trees were mostly planted along the fence separating it from Evergreen Cemetery, where they are replacing some of the old maples which have died and are expected to die within the next several years.

The additions accentuate the "new look" in National Cemetery trees—evergreens are being planted to replace the deciduous (leaf-bearing) varieties. "The leaf problem is something terrible here," Riddle said. "We used to rake them all onto a platform and burn them. Now we have three machines to chop them up, and we strew the mulch back over the grass, which helps to fertilize it. But by replacing some of the deciduous trees with evergreens, we're hoping to cut down on the problem."

The site of the cemetery was a corn field and peach orchard before the Battle of Gettysburg, and bloody fighting occurred there. The area was set aside for a cemetery and landscaped by William Saunders, of Alexandria, Va., around the time of the dedication by Lincoln, in November.

Storms Take Toll
Most of the present trees were in that original batch, which was donated by eighteen Union states. The others have been supplied by the National Park Service in the intervening years.

Trees are lost occasionally, usually when struck by lightning. Riddle estimated that in the five years in which he has been in charge of the cemetery, between 20 and 25 trees have died, all as a result of storms. Most of the work on the trees is done by a crew of experts which tour the various National Parks, and spend about a week each year in Gettysburg.

Some of the trees have shown great resiliency, according to Riddle. "There is a magnolia over near the New York Monument which looked completely dead for a number of years, but has produced some beautiful blossoms the past few springs. It amazes the tree crew."

Another is a Norway spruce in the southwest corner of the cemetery. "It was struck by lightning about five years ago, and was given up for lost. But the tree crew patched it up, and now it is beginning to bear some cones."

GENEVA (AP)—President Eisenhower is keeping busy as a beaver during the summit conference, but he still manages to crowd in a few practice golf shots daily to help keep fit.

This week of top-level meetings of the Big Four has given the President one of his heaviest schedules since he took office. Despite the pace, he still looks quite chipper.

In addition to the wearing conference sessions, there have been steady rounds of social affairs which take on great importance at a meeting of this kind.

With it all, Eisenhower has found an area at his Lake Geneva villa where he can whack out a few golf balls.

Here is a typical Eisenhower day at the summit—the one he put in yesterday:

Up At 7 A.M.
Out of bed at 7, he breakfasted half an hour later with his son John, an Army major who is an aide to his father during the conference. Then the President received his customary daily briefing on intelligence data, reports on congressional activity and a summary of U.S. newspaper editorial reaction to Geneva developments.

About 9:15 a.m. Eisenhower went to his office near the chateau where he and Mrs. Eisenhower are staying. There he worked on correspondence and other government business.

Then came half an hour's relaxation with the golf clubs.

British Prime Minister Eden arrived at 11 a.m. for an hour's conference. A half hour after Eden left, Special Presidential Assistant Nelson Rockefeller conferred for 20 minutes with his chief. Then the President got out his camera and took pictures of staff members and the villa grounds.

Guests At Luncheon
A few minutes later guests began arriving for a luncheon the President and Mrs. Eisenhower gave for Swiss President and Mrs. Max Petitpierre and other Swiss government officials.

The luncheon lasted until 3:10 p.m. Eisenhower then conferred with Rockefeller and other delegation members in preparation for the day's meeting of chiefs of government. The President was given a report on the morning meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers.

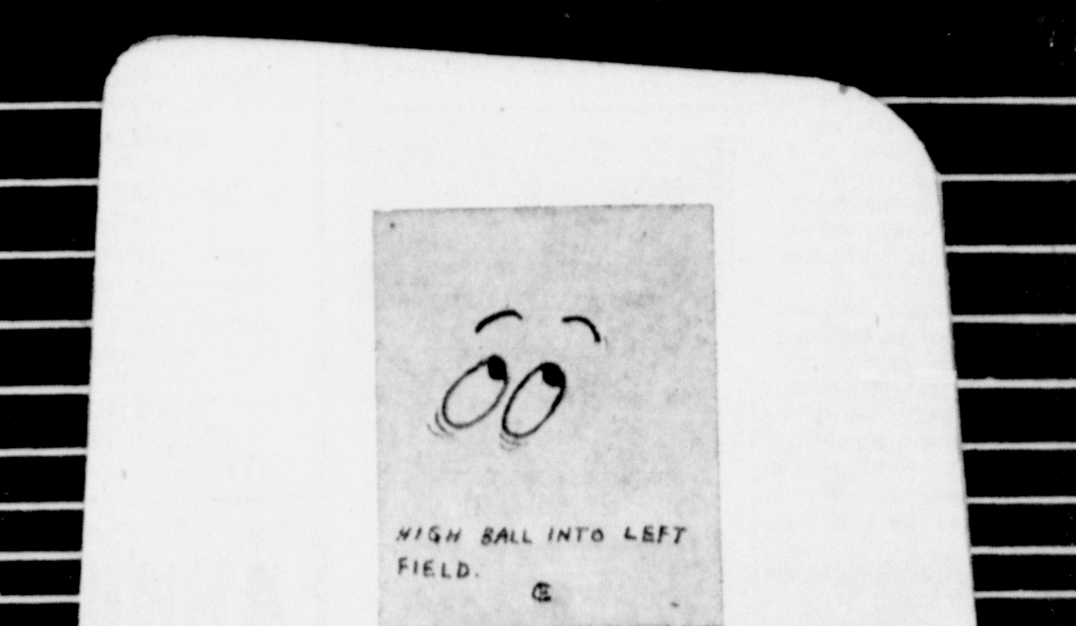

Eisenhower got an early start for the summit talks at the Palace of Nations. He spent the hour and a half until the session started working on his statement for the meeting. He also conferred with Secretary of State Dulles before the meeting.

Quiet Family Dinner
The session with Eden, Soviet Premier Bulganin and French Premier Faure lasted an hour 15 minutes.

After it, Eisenhower hurried off—late—to a garden party at his villa. The party reportedly was arranged after Mrs. Faure told Mrs. Eisenhower she had never had the opportunity to chat with the President. The British premier Eden and Lady Eden also attended.

After the party broke up, the President, Mrs. Eisenhower and their son had a quiet family dinner at the villa. It was one of the few evenings they have spent alone this week. After dinner Eisenhower talked with Dulles by telephone and arranged a breakfast meeting with him for today.

The President then chatted with his family and read a bit. Shortly before 11 p.m. he went to bed.

A regular reader of The Times, frustrated because she had not received her sugar rations for can-serted a classified advertisement in The Times this week asking to Less than two hours after the

The advertiser has not as yet

Hitler Now Reported On Antarctic Island: (By the Associated Press) Adolf Hitler, variously reported dead or escaped to one place or another, was brought back into the news again today by a report that he had taken up residence on an island in the Antarctic.

Following a statement by Cesar Ameghina, Argentine foreign minister that there was no truth in a published rumor that Hitler and his alleged bride had reached Argentina by the German submarine
U-530 and were living in Patagonia, the French Brazzaville radio relayed a report that the pair were in the Antarctic.

The Argentina government in the meantime has announced that the U-530, which surrendered last week to Argentina authorities, will be handed over to the United States and Great Britain.

Today's Talk

BE YOURSELF!

Each of us is an entity in himself. We are unique, for there is not another in all the world exactly like us. Therefore we should be proud and happy for we can spread out, develop and grow to the extent of our abilities.

Be yourself and you will stand out from others. Why should we try to be someone else, anyway?
Until we test out all that we are we do not know our capabilities.
It is amazing to learn how much there is hidden within us! Every time we read a great book, visit a new location, or meet someone especially inspiring, we grow a little, and the more we grow the more we want to grow! That's the way it is.

We often hear the expression "I wish I had his ability," or "I wish I could be him or her." But that isn't the way our Creator figured it out. He wanted every person to stand upon his merits and demonstrate himself. Whitman started off his great poetic book, "Leaves of Grass," with the words "I Celebrate Myself." That's what we all should do in appreciation of the many gifts with which we have been endowed by our Creator. Every day should be a celebration day.

In the story book it was the King who wanted to be the boy with the fishing rod, and it was the boy who dreamed that he might one day be the King! Things aren't made up that way, however. We are in the place to which we were born - but we can gloriously maneuver that place! The will, with which we have been endowed, is a powerful instrument to be used for your usefulness and personal happiness.

Be yourself and others will want to be like you, but can't! The essential thing is not to be like someone else, but to be the most of oneself - we all have far more than we imagine. The limitation is never so good as the original. Opportunities actually drip from Heaven! Be yourself and stand out revealed!

PATIENT SUCCESS

Success is patient. It will wait
Heedless of the passing throng
For the near or far-off date
When one man will come along.

Failure, disappointment, dread
May have made his struggle
grim,
But if he keeps on, ahead
Victory will wait for him.

If some one the will possess
Every barrier to surmount,
Twenty failures with success,
When he gains it, will not count.

Who deserves the heights to climb,
With the odds against him
great, Success will always spare the time
Patiently for him to wait.

Miss Sweden Is Chosen As Miss Universe; Athletic Type

By JAMES BACON

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Miss
Sweden today is Miss Universe, the world's most beautiful woman.

The judges, true to form, picked a short-haired blonde, but there was little else they could do—blonde, blue-eyed, 21-year-old Hillevi Rombin was just that beautiful.
But the race was a close one—
Miss El Salvador, blonde Maribel Arrieta, was only a few points behind. The other runners up were—in this order, Ceylon, Germany and Japan.

She's a Big Girl
For Miss Sweden—one of the biggest girls in the contest at 130 pounds—the title means a host of prizes, most important of which is a $250-a-week contract at Universal-International Studios.

Hillevi is a college graduate and hails from the town of Upsala, about a half-hour's drive from Stockholm. It is Sweden's greatest university town and Miss Universe is a representative citizen. She speaks five languages.

For those who like statistics, her vital measurements are 36 inches in the bust and hips, and 23 in the waist.

She is an athletic type and expert gymnast.
She told reporters that her first act today was to send cables to her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Rombin. Her father is an Upsala storekeeper.

She also revealed that a very special cable will go to First Leftenant Nils Benker, a flying officer in the Swedish Royal Air Force.

"We are engaged and very much in love," she explained.
Most Beautiful Oriental
The runner-up, Miss El Salvador, said "I had my money on her. She was so beautiful, I don't see how I ever came as close as I did."

SAYS STATE CAN
SUE FOR TAXES

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—Judge
Ernest Harvey has ruled in a preliminary action in Chester County Court that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania had the legal right to press its claim to collect between five and eight million dollars in inheritance taxes from the estate of Pierre S. du Pont.

The decision Thursday, however,
is subject to appeal.
Pennsylvania is seeking to collect inheritance taxes on the full estate, valued at about 80 million dollars. The state claims the one time head of the vast multi-million dollar du Pont industrial empire was a resident of Longwood, Chester County, not Wilmington, Del., as stated in his will.

The action before Judge Harvey was an appeal from a decree of the register of wills for Chester County, granting ancillary letters of administration to the First National Bank of West Chester. These letters in effect established Wilmington as du Pont's legal residence.
Judge Harvey ruled the Register of Wills Act of 1915 did not preclude an appeal such as the one filed by the state.

White Sox Bull Pen Shoves Chicago Into AL Lead With Win Over Bosox As Yanks Lose

The Associated Press
If the Chicago White Sox have here to stay, Manager Marty Marion can bow low to his relief pitcher. The Pale Hose seldom have had it so good.

Twelve victories in the last 16 games have got the Go-Go Sox going, yet Marty's starters have managed only four complete games in the surge.

It's been the bullpen boys who have kept Chicago within reach for late rallies—and who have made early leads stand up.

Narrow Margin

It was that way again last night when the Sox thumped Boston 10-7 lead by two percentage points over the New York Yankees. The Yanks were made fully aware of their plight by losing to Kansas City 3-1 after the A's had lost 10 straight.

The Sox belted Boston for five runs in the first and five in the third. Still, Marion had to go to the relief staff, calling in Mike Fornieles and Sandy Consuegra and finally Morrie Martin to pull it off. Martin received credit for the victory by checking the Bosox on one hit the last three innings.

Fornieles did all right after replacing Jack Harshman when Boston scored three in the third, until the Red Sox mustered four in the seventh. Consuegra misfired for a change, too, but Marion's kneedeep in relievers.

Dropo Big Man
Walt Dropo was the big man for Chicago, which moved back into first place after a 24-hour stay June 18. He doubled for two runs in the first and lined a two-run single in the third.

After the third, Chicago didn't start, was the loser.
Elsewhere in the AL, Cleveland stayed two games behind the leaders with a 2-0 decision over Baltimore and Detroit plastered Washington 11-3.

Brooklyn Ups Lead
Brooklyn upped its National League lead to 14½ games with an 8-4 romp over runner-up Milwaukee; New York's Giants defeated Cincinnati 6-3 in the 14th inning; Pittsburgh drubbed Chicago 3-1 and St. Louis stopped Philadelphia 3-1 after the Phils had made it 11 in a row by winning the first game of the twilight twin bill 6-3.

The Yanks, who had led the AL since May 21 except for Chicago's teaser in June, were knocked over by a pair of former mates—Vic Raschi and Tom Gorman. Raschi won it, his third, giving 10 hits but stranding 12 in his eight innings. Gorman gave a hit but no runs in the ninth. Joe Astroch squeezed in the winning run in the sixth. Enos Slaughter, another recent Yank, scored the first run and had two-for-three.

New York now has lost 12 of the last 17 games.

Win On 4 Hits
Cleveland got just four hits off Baltimore's Jim Wilson, but won anyway on Al Smith's fourth-inning homer and a sacrifice fly by Hank Follies in the seventh and Ferris Fain. Herb Score won his ninth, with relief, and fanned five to run his strikeout total to 147.

Detroit, only 7½ games off the pace, swarmed all over the Senators with Ray Boone clouting a pair of home runs, Ned Garver won it for a 9-9 record. Harvey Kuenn had four-for-five.

The Cardinals scored three times in the third inning to snare the nightcap after the Phils had matched Brooklyn's 11-game string—longest in the majors this season. Red Schoendienst drove in three runs of the Cards' runs in the second game, won by Harvey Haddix. Bobby Morgan's three-run homer topped a six-run rally in the fifth inning of the opener.

Pee Wee Reese Night
It was Pee Wee Reese night at Ebbets Field and the Dodger shortstop hit two doubles, drove in a run and scored a run. Milwaukee had four homers, two by Del Crandall, but rookie Roger Craig got his second victory with relief from Ed Roebuck. Gene Conley was the loser. Brooklyn packed the game away in a three-run eighth when Carl Furillo homered with two on.

Rookie Gail Harris' homer with two on in the fifth extra inning sent Cincinnati to its sixth straight defeat while lifting the Giants to within a game and a half of Milwaukee. Marv Grissom won in relief. Joe Black gave the Giants six scattered hits while working the first 10 innings.

The Cubs fell to their 13th defeat in 15 games as Elroy Face pitched a seven-hitter. The Bucs started their 11-hit attack against Paul Minner with Gene Freese hitting two triples.

Friday's Score

Lions 6; Moose 2

Six runs in the first inning gave the Lions a 6-2 victory over the Moose in the final Little League game of the season Friday evening.

The victory enabled the Lions to clinch second place after a rough early season start. The Lions won eight of their last 10 games to wind up in the second spot.

Coach Fred Baker's lads tallied their six runs on base hits by Ahrens, Hull, Weikert, Howie Miller and Eugene Miller. Free passes to Eugene Miller, Bigham, Eyer and Ahrens also helped in producing the runs. The winners came up with two more scoring chances but were quickly stopped. In the fifth, the Lions loaded the bases with one out but a snappy double play, which went Fair to Tuckey, cut their life line.

Moose Score

Bob Miller's Cubs scored their only two runs in the top of the third when Lott walked, Tuckey doubled and Lott came in on a close play which ended up being an error on the part of the catcher. Fair then singled to drive in Tuckey. The Moose also loaded the bases in the fifth but were unable to score.

Ken Hull and Howie Weikert led the winners at the plate by rapping a pair of hits each in three times at bat. Darrel Tuckey was the Moose's top hitter with two for two. Randy Eyer, going the distance and pitching a fine ball game, receives the win while Jack Sprecker, who was relieved by Fair in the fifth, is charged with the loss.

HOOSIER HOT WEATHER TALE

LIBERTY, Ind. (AP)—The weekly Liberty Herald yesterday related this hot weather story:

A visitor at the Whitewater State Park Lake had been in and out of the lake all afternoon while his wife basked in the sunshine on the beach.

Suddenly the wife missed her husband. An alarm spread and efforts were made to locate the bather. Friends tried to comfort the frightened wife while lifeguards began diving.

Other swimmers and park officials formed a human chain in the water as they joined in the search. As the chain inched its way up the beach someone asked for the name of the victim. When the full name was repeated a helper in the middle of the chain looked up with a startled expression and shouted, "Why, that's me."

$50,000 HERSHEY BLAZE

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin leveled a large barn on a Hershey Estates farm on Thursday and caused damage estimated by Fire Chief Eugene Gray at $50,000.

Gray said the blaze destroyed the barn filled with hay and straw, two silos, milkhouse and a horse barn near a home occupied by four adults and about 20 students from Milton Hershey School.

None of the four house parents or boys, who ranged in age from 6 to 16, was injured.

Monday evening Jody Bream and Jane Bigham will play Helen McInerney and Rachel Heldt. In the other match, Sid and Rod Steiner will oppose Dick Cogley and Lloyd Benner. In Wednesday play, John Houser and Dick Fohl will play McKnight Gulge and Ed Nowicki, while Ed Hirschman and Hugh McInerney will meet Ray Nowak and Dick Heintzelman.

The ninth team entered consists of Bing Albright and Jim Gilbert. All matches will be the best-of-three sets.

Singles play will resume Tuesday and Thursday evenings. SUSPECT GETS LONG BREATH

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The defense has a month to whip up arguments against a move to extradite F. J. Ellsworth, accused of acquiring his whopping bankroll by murdering a rich Philadelphia widow.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Theodore Smith of Philadelphia outlined the charge against Ellsworth yesterday. Then the Circuit Court hearing was continued until Aug. 24.

Ellsworth, 36, of Omaha, was charged with murder soon after he aroused police suspicions by turning up in Las Vegas flashing an $87,000 bankroll—mostly in $100 bills.

Part Of Loot?
Smith said police expected to show the money is part of about $100,000—mostly in $100 bills—taken from Mrs. Lulubel Rossman's safely deposit box. She was suffocated in her Philadelphia hotel apartment July 3.

Two Las Vegas police sergeants, R. J. Dunn and E. E. Gardner, and a Philadelphia cigar store clerk, C. E. Leedom, were called to testify.

The officers said Ellsworth and Ray Wilson, 33, of Tulsa, were picked up in Las Vegas July 6 because $87,000 was deemed a sizable amount for two ex-convicts to be hauling around.

Leedom was called by Smith to testify that Ellsworth and a companion tried to buy two-inch adhesive tape in his store the day before Mrs. Rossman was slain.

Don Stonesifer, Jack Simmons and Leo Sanford have played 48 straight National Football League games since joining the Chicago Cardinals four years ago.

Joey Giardello Starts Prison Term

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Middleweight boxer Joey Giardello started a six to 18 month prison sentence yesterday for his part in a riot at a South Philadelphia gas station.

The 24-year-old boxer, whose real name is Carmine Tillelo, was arrested in connection with the melee in which an attendant was injured. Giardello was tried last March and convicted of six counts of assault and riot.

DR. MIDDLECOFF, PALMER, BOLT PGA STANDOUTS

DETROIT (AP)—In the wake of "Gray Friday"—you could hardly call it "black"—with so many favorites winning—there emerged three imposing figures in the PGA Golf Tournament:

Dr. Cary Middlecoff as the strong man, Johnny Palmer as the silent man and Tommy Bolt as the loud man.

With only 16 survivors left, these three players stood out as the ones to watch in today's 36-hole third round at the Meadowbrook Country Club.

And of the three, the flamboyant, unpredictable but wonderfully colorful Bolt—who has the quaint habit of saying what he thinks—probably is the best bet to go all the way in this week-long marathon.

Who says so?
Why, a fellow named Tommy Bolt says so. Listen:

"I saved this tournament by beating him—so it just has to be mine. If I didn't stop him, he'd have gone on to take it all."

The "him" in question was Sammy Snead, a three-time PGA champion who lost a grim struggle to Bolt in yesterday's second round.

Closed Out On 16th
Bolt dropped birdie putts of 12, 15 and 18 feet—and if that wasn't bad enough, he embarrassed Snead by closing out the match on the 16th hole with a 20-foot shot out of the bunker.

Old Sam just hung his head as the ball disappeared into the cup. But don't forget Middlecoff and Palmer, who do considerably less talking but just as much golfing as Bolt.

Harbert Is Out
Middlecoff, perhaps the hottest player in this tournament—or in any tournament this season, for that matter—came through with two strong victories. He got past Wally Burkemo, the 1953 PGA champion who is a great match play competitor, 2 and 1, and then eliminated dangerous Bill Nary, 3 and 2.

Palmer, who is about as easy going as they come—too easy some say—eliminated defending champion Chick Harbert, 1-up. And on Harbert's home course too.

Today's featured match sends Jack Fleck, present U.S. Open champion, against Bolt. Palmer meets Lou Worsheim, while Middlecoff faces Mike Pavella, an "outsider" from Washington, Pa.

Psychological Effect Of Power Steering Is Beneficial To Most Motorists; Besides Power Assist

By FREDERICK C. RUSSELL

Some drivers are content to be small pebbles in motoring while others prefer to be big tombstones.

Psychology Gives A Boost

While the much greater ease of turning the wheel would naturally make parking easier where a car is equipped with power steering we have the additional psychological factor of the driver's belief that he can park with less fuss if his car has this advanced feature. Observing a friend nest his car into an appropriate spot the other evening served to demonstrate this convincingly. Regardless of the booster for steering if he had not placed the car just right and cut the front wheels at the right angle for a neat piece of backing he would either have hit the curbing with the right rear tire or not placed the rear end of the car near enough to the curb. Because of the fact that power steering makes corrections of error much easier the tendency is for the driver to want to demonstrate what an aid this convenience can be. Any way you look at the steering situation psychology is playing a handy role in assisting the power "assist."

Why The Wider Gap

Those of you whose memory of motors goes back a few years may be surprised to note that the trend has been toward wider spark plug gapping. Not so many years ago the common gap was around .025 inch. Today it is well over .030 inch. The change is due to the need for better firing of mixtures at idling as well as during part throttle operation when there may be considerable exhaust gases to dilute the mixture.

Incidentally, when a plug is new its point edges are sharp and spark jumps more easily, providing better firing of the mixture. But as the gap becomes too wide from constant erosion of the electrodes the situation reaches a point where the plug may require as much as 50 per cent more voltage than a new plug. Is it any wonder the engine doesn't run as it should?

Sun Rough On Tops

If you have a convertible by all means try to keep it out of the hot sun. Believe it or not, exposure to heat of the sun does more to damage tops than rain. It burns the stitching, thus opening up seams and allowing rain to leak in. Pick your shade with care, however. Shade from the building is preferable to that from a tree. And what's wrong with driving back into the garage or under the roof of the car port when the car stands ready for service at home? The newer fabric tops dry quickly so don't feel that if you have been out in the rain, and the skies clear, you need to expose the car to the sun for the rest of the day.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"I'm no expert on lubrication but I think I have a clear picture of the newer oils which are rated from 10 to 30 in grade. What they do is to adjust themselves so that they meet a wide variation in engine operating conditions which may not be as effectively met by an oil which is of one fixed grade. "Whenever you start up a standing engine it is cold enough to need a light oil; then as it gets hot it needs a heavier oil. It is because these new oils meet such a wide set of conditions that they cause less carbon. And with rings cleaner there is less pumping of oil up into the cylinders."

Warm It Up First

Studying the manuals covering automatic transmissions I continually run across the important point to get the system well warmed up before checking for its behavior. Cold oil in an automatic drive can slow up all of its functions, and this may be mistaken for leakage, too low oil level or something much more serious. By warming up I do not mean a run around the block. It takes about ten miles of driving, with frequent stops and starts to get the operating temperature up to normal for checking. The transmission is slower to get into normal action than the engine.

One reason that short runs with the car waste gasoline is not merely because of the need for additional choking and the use of lower gears for starting but also because a car has to run five miles or so before operating temperature is normal. At no time before such a temperature is reached will the engine give anything like better mileage. Also this short-run driving loads the crankcase with diluent which, by making oil less protective, invites increased engine wear.

Let's Get Technical

Volumetric efficiency sounds like quite a mouthful, but one of the simple definitions tells us that this is merely a measure of the engine's breathing capacity. Since the engine breathes through the intake manifold, the carburetor and the air cleaner you are right in guessing that the valves have a lot to do with the process. In an effort to raise volumetric efficiency engineers have been designing valves for a higher lift. Valves are also larger and remain open for a longer period. Manifolds have been redesigned so that incoming gases have an easier path to travel. Much improvement has been made in the carburetor itself.

One reason for use of the four-barrel carburetor is that it provides an easier path for more air to enter the system when the throttle is opened and the full carburetor goes to work. In normal operation or at part throttle only a portion of the carburetor is in action.

For Future Reference

There are various ways to test the efficiency of a fuel pump but one which you can make as a sort of spot check is to note how quickly the pump is able to refill the fuel filter bowl when your mechanic has taken this off to clean it out. Here the pump is required to prime itself in order to refill the bowl. It should require twenty seconds or less of cranking.

Care For That Leather

Those cracks which develop in genuine leather upholstery are not going to worry about. Good leather acts this way and it is no sign that something is going to give way. I recently looked over a 1930 roadster and found that while its upholstery was cracked generously the leather was still firm. But there is a little cleaning job which should be considered here.

Don't let dirt and foreign matter collect in the cracks. That will cause deterioration. To keep the leather clean the best plan is to use a moist (not wet) cloth on which a little mild soap has been rubbed. After wiping the cracks and the smooth surfaces with this, follow with a wiping of another moist cloth without soap. Then buff with a dry soft cloth. The leather will then be glossy again.

In The Motor Mail

Q. There is a considerable wear on the left front tire, but a check on front-end alignment did not show anything out of the ordinary. There is no wear on the right front tire. K. B.

A. How about the left front brake? I think you will find that this has been grabbing, probably because the drum is warped.

Q. What would cause the pointer of the gas tank gauge to flicker? It does this whether there is a lot of gas in the tank or just a little. T. McB.

A. Check for dirty contact points in the dash unit.

Q. Idling of the engine of my car is very unsatisfactory. We have had the carburetor checked and the ignition carefully gone over. My mechanic also wants to take a compression reading of the cylinders, but I can't go on experimenting. R. K. N.

A. You mechanic is right. This test probably will show that there is too much variation in compression between the cylinders. He was right in checking the other things first because at the low mileage on your car compression should normally be satisfactory.

Q. Fluid is leaking from the automatic transmission on my car but I do not see any evidence of it on the garage floor. Wm. L. F.

A. On your car the propeller shaft is enclosed on a torque tube. Fluid from the automatic drive can leak past a ball joint and run down inside this tube to overflow the rear axle housing.

Q. I have been troubled with the engine overheating and ping. The ignition timing has been retarded to check this, but there is no improvement. K. N.

A. Naturally. By retarding the spark you are causing the engine to run hotter, and that makes the ping worse. Advance the spark and try premium gas. If the ping-

TALBOTT PROBE "STILL OPEN"

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said Friday a Senate inquiry is "still open" into a profitable business interest which Secretary of the Air Force Talbott has offered to give up if the senators think he should.

Talbott told the Senate Investigations subcommittee Thursday he has reaped no "improper" profit as a partner in the New York efficiency firm of Paul B. Mulligan & Co., some of whose clients hold government contracts.

He said his "special partnership" in the firm pays him more than $50,000 a year. McClellan put it at $60,000. The Air Force secretary's salary is $18,000.

At Talbott's request, the subcommittee hastily arranged the public hearing late yesterday. It adjourned without giving any official reply to the secretary's request that it say whether he should relinquish his interest in the Mulligan firm Aug. 1.

McClellan, the subcommittee chairman, set no date for another session in the inquiry into the propriety of the arrangement and into hints that Talbott had used his official position to further the firm's interests. Talbott said he had "certainly not" done so.

Declaring that "the finger of suspicion" has been pointed at him by some newspapers in a manner that "I don't think I deserve," Talbott gave a company-by-company report on his contacts with clients of the Mulligan firm.

PENNSYLVANIA CHANGES HOUR OF EXECUTIONS

HARRISBURG (AP)—A change in execution procedure will give prisoners awaiting execution in Pennsylvania's electric chair an extra 20 hours of life.

A new execution time of 9 p.m. (EST) Mondays has been adopted by agreement of the Justice Department and the governor's office, state Commissioner of Corrections Arthur T. Prasse disclosed yesterday.

For the last 21 years, condemned prisoners have been executed at Rockview Penitentiary, near Bellefonte shortly after 12:30 a.m. (EST) on the Monday of the week set for their execution.

The first men scheduled to die under the new schedule next Monday are Patrick A. Lance, 31, and Elijah Thompson Jr., 22, both of Beaver County and both convicted of killing children last year.

Inconveniences Others
Prasse said the principal reason for the change in time was the difficulty encountered by prison employees, witnesses and others attending an execution in returning home at early hours in the morning. The prison is located in a rural area far from the public transportation facilities.

"Some of our workers don't get home until say 2 a.m. and then a few have to go back on duty at 6 the same morning," Prasse said, adding: "In addition the 12:30 a.m. time made it necessary to bring the

Find Berth For Dewey's Flagship

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—City officials, coming to the aid of the old cruiser U.S.S. Olympia, Adm. Dewey's flagship at Manila Bay, say they have found a temporary berth for the ship.

City Representative Walter M. Phillips made the announcement last night, saying a last minute search revealed a probable spot along the west bank of the Schuylkill River, near South Philadelphia's Penrose Ave. Bridge.

The Navy had previously told a committee of private citizens that the ship, now berthed in the Philadelphia Naval Base, would be dismantled if it wasn't moved by Saturday. Navy officials at the base said it was taking up valuable space.

prisoners to Rockview from the county jails on Sundays. This resulted in doing all the necessary checking and preparations on a Sunday. Actually it meant working around the clock.

"With the new time all this can be done Mondays, a day when our offices are open regularly."

In addition the commissioner pointed out that Sunday is the busiest day for the prison chaplain and the earlier execution time meant a hardship on him. Condemned men usually spend much of their final day in consultation with the chaplain.

Since May 28, 1934, when the 12:30 execution time was fixed, 100 men have been put to death. When the electric chair was put into operation in 1915 the time was set for 7 a.m. Mondays.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

LOOSE ENDS IN GIRL'S SLAYING

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Burton W. Abbott has been formally charged in the kidnap-slaying of 14-year-old Stephanie Bryan, but authorities said today there are still many loose ends in this strange case.

In a brief preliminary hearing yesterday, Municipal Judge Louis J. Hardie continued the arraignment of the one-armed accounting student to July 29.

Abbott has denied from the outset that he knew anything about the disappearance of the Berkeley High School girl last April 28. Now, under instructions from his lawyer, he has stopped talking.

Have "Ample Evidence"
He was arrested Wednesday night after the girl's decomposed body was found near the Abbott family's cabin in Trinity County 200 miles north of Berkeley.

Alameda County Prosecuting Atty. J. Frank Coakley, who yesterday filed a murder complaint against Abbott declared "We have ample evidence that Abbott killed Stephanie Bryan." The complaint was signed by Stephanie's father.

Coakley said he was not yet prepared to say how she was killed, "but I know she was killed by a blow to the back of her head by a heavy instrument, and I'm satisfied that Abbott is the man who killed her."

Nebraska will open its football season with a game in Hawaii on Sept. 17. The Cornhuskers beat Hawaii 50-0 in their first meeting last season.

BIG COMMUNION SERVICE IN RIO

Thousands of Roman Catholic men received communion early today in the climax to seven and a half hours of continuous services at the 26th International Eucharistic Congress.

A midnight Mass preceding the communion was celebrated by Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York. He spoke before an estimated 150,000 persons in Congress Plaza. The celebration of the Mass was Cardinal Spellman's only official duty during the Congress, which opened Tuesday.

There was no estimate of the number of men who received communion, but 200 priests spent an hour 10 minutes carrying out the service.

50,000 Confessions
A special communion for women was held Thursday. Confessions from 50,000 children were heard yesterday in preparation for communion today.

The Congress last night paid homage to Roman Catholic Church members in countries where functions of the church are restricted. Msgr. Vincent Briggs, auxiliary bishop of the metropolitan of Lithuania presided at the "Via Sacra" ceremony. He told newsmen the Via Sacra was designed to signify "that spiritual communion exists between Catholics of the free world and those behind the Iron Curtain."

On the rostrum during the ceremony were vacant thrones for three Roman Catholic cardinals confined by the Communists—Joseph Mindszenty of Hungary, Aloj-

Says U. S. Might Send USSR Food

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sens. Russell (D-Ga.) and Young (R-ND) said today that if Russia moves to lower the Iron Curtain, as proposed by President Eisenhower, the United States should consider shipping the Soviets needed food supplies.

Eisenhower called at the Geneva conference yesterday for a lowering of the East-West barriers against exchange of information, travel and trade. His proposal was endorsed by British Prime Minister Eden but there was no immediate official Russian reply.

Russell, who heads the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he would continue to oppose shipment of strategic materials to Russia, but added:

"We could send them cotton goods, for instance, and butter and other food products. It has always been my belief that trade will do a great deal toward promoting international good will."

zije Stepanac of Yugoslavia and Stefan Wyszynski of Poland. A fourth empty throne was for Thomas Cardinal Tien, whom the Communists have barred from returning to his Peiping archdiocese.

About a fifth of U. S. crop and range land has been seriously damaged by water or wind, says the Twentieth Century Fund.

FOREIGN AID DISPUTE HOLDS

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sizzling Senate-House conference on foreign aid was in prospect today after the Senate restored practically all the House cuts in President Eisenhower's bill.

The Senate stayed in session more than 12 hours to pass the $3,205,841,750 measure yesterday, giving the President one of his important victories of the 1955 session. The final passage vote was 62-22.

The senators voted to restore $587,100,000 of the slashes made by the House in the bill, granting Eisenhower all but $60,800,000 of the sums he requested for U. S. friends throughout the world.

Defeated in the long debate were six separate attempts to make sharp cuts in the bill. All these votes cut across party lines but, reversing the traditional party roles on foreign aid, more Republicans than Democrats backed the President on the key tests.

The conference on the bill probably will be held next week. Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz.), floor manager for the bill in his branch, told a reporter today "We're going to stand pat on exactly what the Senate voted."
